

A room with a view

Phantom's retractable door screens selected for a year-round gathering space in Millerton, NY

"This is an example of taking a space you already have and making it more like your dream home. It's about getting excited about your home again. Seeing it with new eyes, imagining what could be and bringing that to life."

- Stephen Saint-Onge

LOCATION:	Millerton, New York
STYLE:	Country
DESIGNER:	Stephen Saint-Onge
PRODUCT:	Phantom Legacy™ retractable door screens
MESH TYPE:	Fiberglass 18/14 mesh
NEED:	While restoring a historic home, the designer needed to screen the French doors to maintain easy access to the backyard. It was important for the screens to stay out of the way and not block the light from entering the room.
SOLUTION:	Phantom's retractable door screens with Phifer's 18/14 insect mesh in charcoal finish deliver great visibility to the outside, allowing the family to enjoy uninterrupted views even when the screens are in use.

OVERVIEW

Stephen Saint-Onge, a published author, speaker and interior designer, was requested by a family in Millerton, NY, to update their existing enclosed patio. Originally built in the 1970s, the main structure was in bad repair. Stephen turned the previously run-down patio into a year-round dining room, creating a dining area that incorporates large windows, French doors that open to the backyard, and allows homeowners take in the changing seasons while letting light into the new room.

Phantom's door screens retract out of sight on either side of the door; the white color of the housings helps them blend into the door casings and does not take away from the design of the space.

APPLICATION HIGHLIGHTS

Insect-free natural ventilation

The retractable screens feature Phifer 18/14 insect mesh with 45% openness which allows the guests to open the doors to enjoy the ocean breeze without having to worry about letting in the bugs.

Easy operation with secure closure

Legacy's integrated latching handle is durable and easy to use. It closes the screen securely to prevent accidental opening in breezy conditions.

Complements any doorway

Phantom's door screens blend with all types of doors without detracting from the building's design.
